Home Working Policy

1. Summary

WDS is committed to safeguarding the health, safety and wellbeing of any employee who regularly works from home for all or part of their working week, in the same way it does so for staff based on WDS premises, as far as is reasonably practicable.

WDS assesses the health and safety risks associated with any proposed homeworking arrangement. To facilitate this, WDS requires employees to undertake a virtual home workstation assessment.

Where the virtual assessment indicates potential health and safety risks, WDS must take all reasonable steps to address these. Where the health and safety risks cannot reasonably be addressed, WDS may deny the homeworking request on health and safety grounds.

Who this policy applies to: All WDS employees and any individuals working on behalf of the company

2. Minimum Requirements
